

Glen Canyon National Recreation Area (UT)

Steven Todd McIntyre II grew up on the edge of the Willamette Valley and the Coastal Range foothills outside of Junction City, Oregon. In Oregon, on hikes through Winema National Forest and along Highway 36, he developed an affinity for the outdoors. He majored in History and minored in Biology at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, TN. There he began his career in outdoor education and recreation at YMCA Camp Widjiwagan, first as a counselor and then as a theme camp coordinator. He believes that the greatest asset the United States has is the outdoors, and plans to spread the love for our parks, wilderness, and forests across this and future generations.