

Richmond National Battlefield (VA)

Claire Murphy grew up in Chesapeake, VA. Claire has always loved spending time outside, whether that be playing at a softball tournament, practicing marching band, going on girl scout trips, or simply going for a walk with her friends. Some of her best memories are when she would tag along with her parents on visits to parks and landmarks such as the Blue Ridge Mountain Parkway, the White Mountains in New Hampshire, the Adirondacks in New York, and Pisgah National Forest in North Carolina, among more. Claire is soon to graduate with a Bachelor of Science in Psychology with minors in Leadership Studies and Sociology. She is very excited to be a representative for the Richmond National Battlefield Park and given the opportunity to show the public the history that has been so beautifully preserved.
