

River Raisin National Battlefield Park (MI)

Erik Lopinski grew up in Southeastern, Michigan right by the Ohio border. A native of Monroe County he has grown up with a passion for history and the outdoors. He is a current student at the University of Toledo pursuing a bachelor's degree in History, with a graduation date in May of 2018. He is very interested in helping the public understand and appreciate historical sites as well as the outdoors. His favorite hobbies are reading, kayaking, and physical fitness. He has a deep passion for getting people to connect more deeply with the history of the nation while encouraging active living and community involvement.