

GUADALUPE MOUNTAINS NATIONAL PARK (TX)

Tyler Young was born and raised in northeast Ohio, where he attended Case Western Reserve University. After graduating summa cum laude with a Bachelor of Science in Aerospace and Mechanical Engineering, he joined Teach for America and taught high school science in rural South Dakota. It was during this time that he participated in the Teacher-Ranger-Teacher summer program at Cuyahoga Valley National Park, and decided to pursue a career with the National Park Service. Guadalupe Mountains National Park will be the fourth NPS site that Tyler has worked at, after assignments as a seasonal park ranger at Voyageurs National Park and Klondike Gold Rush National Historical Park.
