

LINCOLN HOME NATIONAL HISTORIC SITE (IL)

Devon Cooperider grew up near Springfield, IL in a small town named Virden. After graduating High School at Sacred Heart – Griffin, Devon attended the University of Illinois-Springfield. Devon’s love for history and wanting to work in a museum and/or National Park atmosphere led him to obtain a Bachelor’s Degree in History. After graduating in the fall of 2017, Devon accepted a position at the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library and Museum as a Volunteer Coordinator. This led him to apply for the CVA position at the Lincoln Home National Historic Site. Devon is looking forward to continuing working with volunteers and also doing everything he can to keep history alive for future generations.
